

Police State

By: Dark Acolyte

The thought police are coming they're coming for me I thought this was the land, the land of the free?
They read my e-mails and tap my wires they instill fear in us those fucking liars They will fight enemies that they create They say they are just, no room for debate Do not challenge their word, challenge their cause They'll lock you up with little pause
They don't treat our citizens like we deserve It's only themselves they wish to serve The global elite are called the new world order but we hear nothing on the news, only about our border Mainstream media doesn't tell the whole story Making it easy to make anybody a tory We're losing our rights, our God given freedoms We are all falling to the new world kingdom but what will we do, what can we do?
We have to stop them from seeing their plan through they are gaining more power every day We cannot sit, we cannot lay we must rise up against this new threat we mustn't become their newest pet They're giving us safety at the price of our rights it was in the works before a couple well known flights
The truth is out there, it wants to be found
But it isn't in the sky and it isn't on the ground
There are people who know, some of whom in power now they say they're after the Sear's tower when will it end, when will it all be over I say tyranny will end when I find an eight leaf clover They meet in secret committees in secret board rooms hatching their plan before it blooms Monitoring every footstep and every transaction slowly, very slowly gaining more traction they wait for the day when they can strike down and even the bravest American will not frown we're being conditioned in our schools and on TV we'll believe anything we hear as long as they have a degree because what we don't know and what they won't say is we're shaping up to be a police state, every day
The national guard is roaming the streets of Louisiana
But that isn't new it's not only Americana the same thing happened to Germany in 1933 Adolph or George it is all the same to me they created enemies and an emergency then they blamed a false insurgency History repeats itself in a never ending synergy taking away our rights like some kind of liturgy I'm tired of it, I'll put up with it no more I'm angry that they made lady liberty into a whore

We've gone to war in the past to stop the communists but for typing this I'm probably on their lists They say He's one of them, a free thinker.
Well say with a dangerous plot he did tinker!
They will label me an enemy combatant, a danger to the government
They will search my car and my home with out my consent.

You think this world is far off? Well I am here to say America is looking more like a police state every day.
